THE "SUBVENTION" TO PERIODICAL LITERATURE.

ELSEWHERE in this issue of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY are reprinted portions of an article (we regret not being able to reprint it in full) from Henry Holt & Company's new Unpopular Review, bearing the title, "Our Government Subvention to Literature." Like most of the other articles in this fledgling periodical (articles which are rapidly making it belie its title!) it is trenchant. Like all of them, it is published anonymously. Yet it is an open secret that it is from the pen of Mr. Burrows of Cleveland and one-cent letter postage fame.

We regret not being permitted to reprint it in full because nowhere do we remember to have seen a clearer marshalling of facts in indictment of our so-called second-class mail "privilege" as it bears upon the work of publishing and selling books, outlining, in other words, a book trade problem of the first importance. Take these facts in order as the author states them, the first four indisputable, the last three, as we know, called to question by the periodical publishers: 1, In gross book production the United States ranks low in the international scale, in book production per capita even lower; 2, The book distributive machinery of the country has steadily diminished during the last third of a century actually as well as pro rata to population and wealth; 3, During the same period the periodical output of the United States has increased thirtyfold—a literally stupendous advance; and now, 4, exceeds that of all the rest of the world combined; 5, The second-class mail "privilege" costs the publisher one cent a pound, but costs the government—according to the author—"many times that amount," being estimated by none of the experts and commissions who have investigated the matter at less than five cents a pound; 6, The second-class "privilege" was originally granted to aid in "the diffusion of knowledge," but books, which most clearly and fully meet the intent of the law, are denied any postal privilege and have been even, in the opinion of the writer and the postal authorities, taxed to support the carriage of periodical matter; 7, A large part of the periodical output not only does not have any educational or genuinely recreative purpose, but is actually debasing, an even larger percentage wholly trivial, and fully half probably advertising, for which latter it is indeed difficult to see the justification of any special governmental privilege.

The above summarizes as fairly as may be possible the argument of the writer of the Unpopular Review's article. How far the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY may be editorially in agreement with him is at present beside the point. It seems to it, however, that certain corollaries to his argument are hardly disputable, even by publishers of periodicals. These corollaries, at least, it seems to the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY, merit the serious and continuing attention of all book-sellers, book-publishers and book-buyers, individually and collectively. Shall we state them?

First, from every standpoint of morals and public policy books are entitled to a postal rate as low as that on periodicals, or lower; secondly, whether the present low rate on periodicals is below cost or not, there is no disputing that the low rate has gendered an immense parasitic growth of advertisement-carrying, quasi-periodicals, for which there is neither economic justification nor literary excuse. Nor is there justification (except possibly in expediency) for carrying advertising matter in the mails at a mere fraction of the rate charged upon books.

The United States is a reading nation: it happens to be a periodical-reading nation par excellence. But had books had also the more or less artificial stimulation of the second-class mail "privilege" and by any chance even a tithe of the indispensable aid derived by periodicals from their advertising revenues, the United States would almost certainly have been also a book-reading nation par excellence instead of being disgracefully low in the scale. If books be put in any sense, by government action or otherwise, on an economic and commercial parity with periodicals, this country will, almost without a doubt, shortly lead the world in book production and book absorption—with a cultural gain, a literary renascence, the importance, breadth and depth of which could hardly be overestimated.

The American Booksellers' Association, the American Publishers' Association find many problems facing them for solution. Of them all, this one seems, to the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY, as to the writer in the Unpopular Review, one of the very first in importance.

It is altogether unlikely that books will be admitted to the periodical rate of one cent per pound, as the Post Office Department is stoutly opposed to this low rate and is unlikely to have additions made to it. Doubtless the Department will urge the charge of at least two cents per pound, in accordance with the recommendation of the Hughes Commission, and will not be satisfied with that. In view of this position and of a further consideration, the appeal for lower postage on books should rather take the shape of a movement to reduce the rates for Parcel Post in distant zones and to obtain a fractional division of the pound above the initial pound. The Post Office Department seems unlikely to accept any alternative rate, which would enable a sender to choose whether to send books by Parcel Post or under an alternative scheme. In the near zones, and especially in the first zone within a radius of 150 miles, which covers the initial field of most local bookstores, the Parcel Post offers fairly cheap facilities, although the initial charge of 5c. might fairly be reduced. Even now five pounds can be sent within 150 miles for 9c., which is lower than would be the rate at 2c. per pound. On the other hand, the increase of the rate from the Eastern centres to the Pacific coast handicaps the use of the Parcel Post for books, and it is to be hoped that this rate also may be reduced. In any event the principle which we have pointed out above should be applied, giving books, by and large, at least as low a rate as periodicals.

OUR GOVERNMENT SUBVENTION TO LITERATURE.*

A dozen years ago, when book production was smaller than today, Mr. Percy L. Parker, in the New York Independent, gave the total number of books issued by thirteen countries in an average year as 77,250, which would be not as large as the estimates of either Senor Salvador or M. Otlet, but is nevertheless of use in confirming them, and increasing the probability that a mean of the three estimates may be quite substantially near to the truth.

Mr. Joseph B. Gilder, in an article in the New York Times, for January 25, 1914, states that our Ambassador to the Court of St. James, Mr. Page of the publishing firm of Doubleday, Page & Co., said not long before departing for his post, that American men spend less for books than for neckties, and American women less than for the buttons on their frocks. The same article quotes the Boston bookseller, Mr. W. B. Clarke, who is chairman of the Executive Committee of the American Booksellers Association, as saying that the per capita consumption of books is less than of any other commodity.

Following Mr. Gilder's article, and using the statistics of the Statesman's Year Book, as to population, and of the World Almanac, as to book production in 1910, we find that in Switzerland there was one book printed for every 872 population; in Japan one to 1,224; in Germany one to 2,075; in France one to 3,809; in Great Britain one to 3,808; and in the United States one to 7,295. In 1911 our showing was not quite so good.

According to statistics prepared for the World Almanac, and to sources indicated above, and others, the number of books issued annually in the United States varies in late years but little either way from 10,000. It would appear that the United States issued roughly only about six per cent of the total, and if we deduct new editions and translations, only about four percent of the total.

By similar analysis, we find that the Scandinavian countries, Denmark, Sweden and Norway, which in book production are next in rank to Switzerland, have an output of about six times ours. Germany, France, the British Empire, Holland, Italy, Austria greatly surpass us, all running, per million of population, from three and one-half to five times our output. Roumania, with one-thirteenth our population, publishes one-fourth as many books; Japan, with slightly more than half our population, publishes four times as many; in other words, eight times as many per million of population; but a large number of these are pamphlets; so instead of publishing in percentages eight times as many, she really issues an average of between three and four times as many, which makes our showing even then bad enough.

Germany produces more books than any other nation in the seven highly creditable classes of educational, arts and sciences, belles lettres, theology, medicine, voyages, and law.

Italy holds first rank in political economy; France in history, poetry and drama; and the United States ties France for first place in one item only, books on sport. That is our best bid for a premier place.

The Publishers' Weekly, the semi-official organ of the book trade, in its issue of January 30, 1904, contains the following statement:

The great decrease in all the more serious departments of literature, as well as in some of the lighter ones, is a curious and unexplainable condition of our book production. Scientific and philosophical writings are as conspicuous through their absence as are the simply amusing books.

Moreover, this backward condition of America's book production is a new situation that has existed for a generation only. That this is so, is shown in various ways, but particularly in the parlous condition of the retail bookselling trade. A generation ago, when our population was a little less than one-half what it is to-day, there were in the United States, it is estimated, between three and four thousand booksellers carrying fairly good stocks of books representative of history, light science, economics, art, biography, travel, poetry, essays, fiction and belles lettres generally.

There are less than fifteen hundred booksellers left, and this number is steadily being diminished through withdrawals from business. Yet on January 9, 1914, the Secretary of the American News Company told the House Committee on Post Office that the country contains nearly a hundred thousand news stands.

Since there were three or four thousand bookstores, not only has the population of the country more than doubled, but the general average of wealth has increased markedly, being quite four times what it was then; so that by good rights the three or more thousand booksellers of that day should have increased three-fold or over, to at least ten thousand, instead of diminishing by more than one-half.

If it be true, as has been repeatedly asserted, that a good bookstore, well stocked and intelligently managed, performs an educational work in any community only slightly, if indeed at all, less important than that done by its schools, colleges, libraries or churches, this deplorable condition of affairs merits serious attention.

The reason for the situation is not far to seek: though not even its existence, let alone its cause, is as generally known as it should be. Yet the cause seems plainly and definitely determinable. To arrive at it, we must turn from book production to another printing-trade industry that has waxed in the United States as book production has waned. Forty years ago less than ten million copies of periodicals, exclusive of newspapers, were published annually. Today it is estimated that there are published over seven-and-a-half billion, and of this quantity more than one-half gets distribution through the mails. These extra hundreds of millions of periodicals would seem to mean as many tens of millions fewer good books; and that seems to be virtually the sole cause of the disappearance of the books.

On June 23, 1874, there was approved an act of Congress establishing a pound rate of postage on mail matter of the second-class—newspapers and periodicals. At first this rate was three cents a pound for magazines and two for newspapers. Soon it was lowered to two cents for each, and still later, becoming operative on July 1, 1885, the rate was reduced to only one cent per pound for each. The cost of service rendered then and every year since, is many times that amount; at present it is estimated by various experts and commissions as running from 6 1-2 cents to 12 cents per pound.

For 1875 (first year law was operative), 40,000,000 pounds.

For 1880, 61,000,000 pounds.

For 1890, 204,000,000 pounds.

For 1900, 450,000,000 pounds.

For 1913, 1,096,000,000 pounds.

At this rate, within less than ten years, if the law is not changed, this output will have increased to more than two million pounds per annum.

Evidently giving to periodical literature this service at one cent per pound, $20 per ton, the cost being eight or ten times as much, has been simply a subvention, and a very effective one. Although we publish few books as compared with other civilized nations, we issue more periodicals than all other nations put together, and half as much again; for we publish sixty per cent of the periodical literature of the entire globe.

Underlying this megalosaurus-like development, is the factor that carriage by the government at the nearly free rate of one cent per pound, covers not only the literary product but the advertising material which has been the determining factor in this marvelous increase. At the time the pound-rate law first became operative, magazines were few in number, and contained little advertising and much good literature; but the pound-rate law gave birth to a new kind of magazine issued at less than cost for the revenue to be derived, because of the immense circulation possible under the subvention, from its advertising pages; and their advertising pages generally weigh more and cost the government more to transport, than do their literary pages.

Upon careful consideration, it seems evident that at first the law diverted the patronage of the reading public from books to the higher-priced and more respectable magazines, those so priced that their sale at the published rate would be possible even if the advertising were a minor consideration; that next, the twenty-five cent issues cut the ground from under these older and higher-priced ones; that then rapidly appeared the fifteen-cent ones, and next the ten-cent ones—all so expensive to make that only the great volume of advertising rendered the low price possible; and that now the five-cent issues are, in their turn, no less rapidly displacing the ten-cent ones.

Averaging all in all, first-class mail costs at most not quite four time as much per pound as second-class mail, and pays eighty-four times as much.

In other words, each time that one of the forty or fifty million users of the first-class mail puts a two-cent stamp on a letter, one cent pays for the service rendered, and nearly all of the other cent is taken by the Department to give the "special privilege" of service at one-eighth of cost, to less than thirty thousand periodical publishers.

One expert estimates that the total number of books published in the world since the invention of printing is some fifteen millions, and another, more modest, places the figures at between ten and twelve millions. Assuming for each book a first edition of one thousand copies, a somewhat common issue, we should have from ten billion to fifteen billion copies of all. In other words, there are issued in the United States each year from one-half to three-quarters as many copies of periodicals as have ever been published in the first editions of all books ever printed by all the nations of the world.

There can be no deduction made from the general features of the situation other than that the distribution of this one class of merchandise at a practically free rate is nearly the sole reason for this wasteful over-production.

When the pound-rate law was enacted, the distinct purpose was announced that its effect should be educational. The contrary is unmistakably the case. The reading of the ten to twenty minute magazine article or the skimming over of the Sunday paper, seems to have become too often the limit of the intellectual activity of our people of average education.

To carry the Police Gazette at a cent a pound while charging eight times as much for a spelling book or Bible, and then to claim that the law permitting this discrepancy was enacted in the interests of education, is at least edifying. Archbishop Hare in his bright little volume Guesses at Truth once remarked that a very bad reason was in effect next to a very good one.

According to Census Bulletin No. 57 for 1905, there was spent in the preceding year in the entire country for newspapers the enormous sum of $280,000,000, and for all textbooks for use in both public and private schools, sectarian and non-sectarian, and in all colleges, only some $12,000,000! More than $23 spent for ephemeral literature, much of which debases the literary taste of the community, for each dollar spent for literature whose function was technically educational.

As illustrating another abuse that results from the pound-rate privilege: Let me refer to some periodicals that are light in weight; certain small magazines, for example, weigh but a fraction of an ounce, and the government must distribute many of them in order to secure one cent. We have in our possession a little Farm Journal so light that it takes forty copies to make a pound. As it is published monthly, not until the Post Office has served a subscriber with this journal for three years and four months, will it get as much as a single cent for the entire service.

And the government carries this kind of literature, advertising and all, at one cent a pound—$20 per ton, and charges for books eight cents per pound—$160 per ton, and for the social-letter and business mail, 84 cents per pound, $1680 per ton!!

Bryan's philosophy was sounder than it sometimes has been when he said:

"The Supreme Court has described unjust taxation as larceny in the form of law. If one citizen is compelled by law to pay ten dollars for the support of the government where he ought to only pay five, and under the same law a neighbor is required to pay but five where he should pay ten, the law which causes this inequality transfers five dollars from one man's pocket to another's."

Then a law which is each year taking over seventy-five million dollars of net profit, above cost of service, from the ninety-three million people who benefit from letters, in order to give the thirty thousand periodical publishers service for ten million dollars which costs many times that sum, is certainly not merely petty larceny or grand larceny, but larceny that is absolutely grandiose.

Had a special privilege as great as this of the second-class mail been enjoyed at national expense by any class of citizens other than its publishers, the publisher would not have permitted it to exist a year. Yet the loss has long been well known to post office officials and members of Congress, though for a time it was kept from the knowledge of the public, because practically the sole means the public has had of obtaining the knowledge has been through the columns of journals that enjoy the privilege. The North American Review for February, 1908, had a most scathing article by Professor Munroe Smith, entitled The Dogma of Journalistic Inerrancy that illustrated this situation forcibly.

No lobby sent to Washington in furtherance of corrupt legislation has ever been more persistent or dealt less fairly with both legislators and public than the lobby that has worked for retention of the second-class mail rate. Some able editors have been accused of hunting jealously for other people's pulls while maintaining a pretty heavy one of their own.

In attacking them "at the source"—the cheap postage by which we ourselves superficially seem to benefit, we are entitled to no credit. On the contrary, while we think our action is in favor of the good literature which we try to serve, we still must own up to selfish motives. The rank growth of worthless periodical literature tends to smother the kind which we and a few of our colleagues are trying to make. We think some of those colleagues are standing in their own light when they advocate the policy which breeds their worthless competitors. Periodicals are like currency: the bad always drives out the good.

RECENT CHANGES IN NEW YORK'S PRINTING TRADE.

Further concentration of New York City's printing trade in the new "printing district" in the West Thirties is evidenced by trade developments of the past two weeks.

First, and perhaps most important, came the news of the amalgamation of the Friedman Print and the Carey Printing Company, one of the older printing concerns of the city, who have leased four floors in the model new printing building erected last year by the Hill Publishing Company. The resulting plant will be one of the largest in the city, running something like forty cylinder presses.

Ground has been broken at 406-426 West Thirty-first Street for the erection of a new printing building which is planned to be the largest and finest building of its kind in New York. The property has a frontage of 250 feet, with a floor area of over 20,000 square feet. The new building will be fifteen stories in height, with basement and sub-basement. A large part of the building has been leased from the plans. The store, basement and first four lofts in the building have been rented to the American Book Bindery, for many years located at Cherry and Rutgers Streets. The other floors in the building will be occupied by printers, lithographers, publishers, photo-engravers and other firms in the allied trades. The new building is just across the cut from the thirteen-story, heavy type printing house erected at 424-438 West Thirty-third Street, for the Zeeese-Wilkinson Company. The building will be ready about January 1, 1915, and its estimated cost will be $1,100,000.

Still another loft building for the printing and publishing trades is to be erected at 344 to 348 West Thirty-eighth Street by George Kern. It is to be thirteen stories in height, 75 x 98.9 feet floor space, and will cost $275,000. It is said the Trade Bindery and another up-town printing house will go into the latter structure. It would seem that if this and the fifteen-story building being erected in West Thirty-first Street secure printing trade tenants from downtown that there will be few large shops left near the Bridge. It is rumored that the Isaac Goldman Company may become tenants of one of these buildings.

INTERNATIONAL PUBLISHERS' CONGRESS COMMITTEES MEET.

At the opening of the Leipsic Exposition of the Book Trade and Graphic Arts, the Executive and International Committees of the Congrès International des Editeurs (International Congress of Publishers) held meetings at that city on May 4th and 5th. Mr. V. Ranschburg, the president, presided.

The discussions were chiefly concerned with the sale of the Vocabulaire Technique, which is progressing satisfactorily, and with the rule regarding international arbitration of disputes between publishers of different countries. This rule is being printed and will appear in ten languages; after its appearance it will be distributed to the national associations belonging to the Congrès. The Executive Committee considered the following matters: the adhesion of Hungary to the Berne Convention, copyright protection in Austria, price maintenance in international trade in music, postal reform and the question of publishers' international museums.

The time and place of the next meeting of these committees have not yet been decided upon.

WHAT ARE "TEXTBOOKS"?

E. P. DUTTON & Co., publishers, of this city, have started a test suit before the Board of United States General Appraisers to enforce if possible the claim of the firm for the free entry of publications printed abroad and claimed to be "textbooks used in schools and other educational institutions," within the meaning of Paragraph 426 of the new tariff law.

The term "textbooks" appears in the existing tariff for the first time. Formerly all such books imported for regular sale were taxed 25 per cent. ad valorem, under the provisions in the old laws for books. Now that textbooks are specifically provided for in the free list, importers want the law interpreted judicially. The test case brought by the Dutton concern relates to importations of the Everyman series, described as volumes containing the works of many of the leading English writers of the past 400 years. Collector Malone returned the books for duty at 15 per cent., under Paragraph 329, which mentions books.

John Macrae of the importing firm argued before the board, consisting of Judges Fischer, Howell, and Cooper, that the volumes in controversy are bound in convenient form for classroom use and that, as a matter of fact, the books of the series concerned are in wide use in schools and other educational institutions. There are more than 600 titles, embracing history, drama, poetry, and other subjects. The representative maintained that the books fall within the exemption clause of the tariff.

Martin T. Baldwin of the Assistant Attorney General's office, asked the board to affirm the Collector's assessment. It was brought out that more than 500,000 volumes of the series in question are imported annually and that while they are used to a more or less extent in schools, they also circulate generally. As their use is not confined exclusively to schools, Mr. Baldwin said they are not within the exemption paragraph. Another argument adduced by the Government is the loss of revenue to follow the admittance duty free of books of the kind in controversy.

It is also said that domestic book-publishing houses, bookbinders, and allied trades here do not look with favor on the proposition to give free entry to books capable of general circulation. The importers will have an opportunity to put in more evidence if they desire, after which a decision will be made. The indications are that whichever way the board decides the issue will eventually go to the Customs Court for final settlement.

MILLION-DOLLAR GIFT TO METHODIST BOOK EMPLOYEES.

INSURANCE policies equaling one year's salary and aggregating more than $1,000,000 have been presented by the Methodist Book Company to each of its 1,000 employees. The gift is in celebration of the 125th anniversary of the establishment of the concern.

The new system of group insurance, admitting all employees without a medical examination and effective as long as the insured remains in the employ of the concern, was issued by the publishing house. The plan includes the employees of the publishing houses in New York and Cincinnati, and the branches in Chicago, Detroit, Pittsburgh, Boston, New Orleans, Kansas City, San Francisco and Portland, Ore.

Official announcement was made last Saturday by Henry C. Jennings, general agent, and George P. Main, Edwin R. Graham and John H. Race, publishing agents.

COLLEGE DEBATE ON PRICE-MAINTENANCE.

THE first intercollegiate debate on the question of price-maintenance on trade-marked goods was held recently in Philadelphia between the New York University School of Commerce and the Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania. The debate was won by New York University. The subject:

Resolved, That under free competitive conditions, the establishment and enforcement of a uniform retail price upon standardized trademarked goods be permitted by law.

Pennsylvania, represented by Warren J. Chandler, Laurie M. Leedom and William P. Swift, with Lloyd N. Hall as alternate, upheld the proposition. New York University, although coached by Dr. Galloway, one of the foremost advocates of price-maintenance and vice-president of the American Fair Trade League, took the negative with Roy A. Wood, James Terry and Louis Bader. Herman L. Kraus acted as alternate.

The judges were Hon. George Vaux, James Hoffesker and Thomas L. Fansworth. The presiding officer was Dr. Charles C. Harrison, former provost of the University of Pennsylvania at Philadelphia.

The Pennsylvania team, according to the summary given by Printers' Ink, argued for price-maintenance because it would protect the manufacturer and prevent unscrupulous dealers from luring customers into their stores under the impression that they were getting great bargains and then foisting an inferior article upon the purchaser. "Price-cutting is the mother of substitution," the Pennsylvania speakers contended. They also declared it was necessary to maintain prices in order to protect the innocent consumer. It was explained also that the retailer would be benefited by price-maintenance because a large corporation could not use its funds to sell at a loss for a short while in order to drive out the small man with limited resources. Price-cutting, they said, was monopoly's foremost weapon.

On the other hand, New York University maintained that the evils complained of could be cured, not by price-maintenance, but by stringent enforcement of the anti-trust laws and the enactment of honest advertising laws. Price-maintenance would merely encourage monopoly, said the speakers from New York, and was desired by manufacturers so they could increase their profits. Price-maintenance was denounced as a vicious piece of class legislation. Such a law, when in general use, would tend, they declared, to take away all incentive to efficiency on the part of the retailer as, in order to allow the greatest number of dealers to handle a product, it would be necessary to fix a price high enough for the most inefficient dealer to make a fair profit on the article.

Efficient service and favorable conditions making the cost of overhead less could not be taken advantage of, the retailer could not reduce his price accordingly, and the consumer would suffer.

THE BOARD OF TRADE OF THE AMERICAN BOOKSELLERS' ASSOCIATION.

At the annual Convention of the American Booksellers' Association, held in New York, May, 1914, Mr. E. Byrne Hackett of the Yale University Press and Mr. H. A. Gould, of A. C. McClurg & Co., of Chicago, were elected members of the Board of Trade. For Alternates on the Board of Trade: Theodore E. Schulte, Charles A. Burkhardt, William J. Macmillan, John Loos, F. D. Lacey, and L. A. Keating. A meeting of the Board of Trade was held at the Hotel Astor, May 14th, 1914. The following officers were reelected for the ensuing year: Charles E. Butler, President; Eugene L. Herr, Treasurer. E. Byrne Hackett was elected Secretary.

OBITUARY NOTES.

ROBERT BRUCE MCCLURE, ex-President and former owner of the McClure Newspaper Syndicate and youngest brother of S. S. McClure, the magazine editor and publisher, was found dead of a gunshot wound at 9 o'clock the night of Friday, May 29th, in his home at Park Hill, Yonkers. The coroner gave it as his verdict that Mr. McClure had committed suicide by shooting himself in the head with a shotgun. He had suffered of late from depression as a result of ill health. Mr. McClure was born in the north of Ireland fifty years ago, the youngest of four brothers. His mother came to the United States when he was a baby and settled on a farm sixteen miles from Valparaiso, Ind. S. S. McClure came to New York in 1882, and two years later founded the McClure Newspaper Syndicate. Robert B. McClure then joined his brother in this city, going to work for him in the syndicate. After S. S. McClure founded McClure's Magazine in 1893 the younger brother represented the magazine's interests in London for ten years. One of the men Mr. McClure was credited with "finding" was Rudyard Kipling. When Mr. McClure returned to New York in 1903 he became the manager of the McClure-Phillips Book Company, another firm organized by S. S. McClure. When the book business was sold to Doubleday, Page & Co. in 1908, Robert McClure bought the McClure Newspaper Syndicate from S. S. McClure. He conducted the syndicate with profit until 1912, when he sold it to Clinton T. Brainard. Mr. McClure leaves a widow, three sons and a daughter.

PERSONAL NOTES.

Clarence E. Wolcott, of Syracuse, was married to Mrs. Lucius Starr Benton in the chapel of the Marble Collegiate Church, New York, on Tuesday, June 2d.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

IN JUNE there will come from the press a novel, "The New Mr. Howerson," by the old-time favorite, Opie Read. Reilly & Britton are the publishers.

AFTER AUGUST 1ST the published price of the regular edition of Harold Bell Wright's books will be uniform with the price of "The Eyes of the World," net $1.35 each.

"THE ROSE OF ROSES," Mrs. Henry Backus' new novel, was published last week by the Page Company, who published "The Career of Dr. Weaver" by the same author.

A NEW CORNISH NOVEL by Eden Phillpotts, "Faith Tresilion," a story of the early nineteenth century, is announced for immediate publication by the Macmillan Company.

A NEW AND CHEAPER EDITION of Frederick Funston's "Memories of Two Wars," at half the former price, is published by Charles Scribner's Sons.

FREDERICK A. STOKES Co. announces that the publication of "My Autobiography" by S. S. McClure has been postponed until early in the fall. Additions to the serial form of the work, together with the difficulties of manufacture and of securing additional illustrations, have caused the delay.

ASHTON KIRK has already shown what he can do—and lovers of detective stories are quite ready to read of more of his achievements. The Penn Publishing Company have just published "Ashton Kirk, Special Detective," in which all the hero's adroitness and quick reasoning are called into play.

ALTHOUGH "THE PRINCE OF GRAUSTARK" is not scheduled to arrive until September, book-sellers may get acquainted with his royal majesty by sending now for an advance copy of the new McCutcheon novel. Dodd, Mead & Co., are the publishers.

ON JUNE 13TH Houghton Mifflin Co. will publish Robert Herrick's new novel "Clark's Field"; "What is it to be Educated?" by C. Hanford Henderson; "Where Rolls the Oregon" by Dallas Lore Sharp; and "A Sister of the Wind," by Grace Fallow Norton.

"BETTER RURAL SCHOOLS"—and when we have them what advantage will be left to the city?—is the title of a new Bobbs-Merrill publication by George Herbert Betts. Some of the phases of rural education discussed are buildings, equipment, course of study, parent-teacher organizations, corn-clubs, etc.

ESTHER WATSON's compact little "Book of Inscriptions" (McBride, Nast & Co.), classifies names for country homes under these divisions: According to Site; Descriptive Names; For Beast, Bird or Fish; Because of Trees; For Love of Woods and Wilds; For Favorite Flowers; For Plants; Indian Names, With Foreign Flavor; With Homely Flavor, etc.

DURING THE LAST WEEK of May the George H. Doran Company issued Will Lexington Comfort's "Midstream"; "Bobby," another lively tale of childhood, by J. J. Bell, author of "Wee Macgregor," and "The Happy Irish," in which Harold Begbie writes humorously of the most picturesque sides of Irish life in essays reminiscent of the Irish novels of George Birmingham.

IF YOU HAVE never met a primitive Bakongo and would like to know what manner of man he is, read the new Lippincott travel book "Among the Primitive Bakongo" by John H. Weeks who spent years with these African people and other similar tribes. For those who prefer the South Sea savage, Robert W. Williamson has ready a record of travel in the Solomon Islands and New Guinea with the engaging title "The Ways of the South Sea Savage." Henry Newton has also been to New Guinea and written down his adventures. "In Far New Guinea" is his contribution, also a Lippincott book.

FISHER UNWIN, the English publisher, has just issued a new edition of our classic, "The Federalist." The English Bookseller notes that, "Though expert students of the United States Constitution are already acquainted with this book, this cheap edition should bring a great political classic before a large circle of readers who are now beginning to think of Home Rule all round and the Federal Solution of the Irish Question." It adds that the book has had a considerable sale in Australia, and has evidently been studied by politicians there with a view to the new Australian Constitution.

A. R. METCALFE, the Chicago authority on auction bridge, is soon to have a new book on the market, entitled "Metcalfe's Complete Auction Bridge" (Browne & Howell Co.). He presents the subject of Auction Bridge in its entirety, covering every possible phase of the game, and also gives the complete laws as revised by the New York Whist Club.

HENRY HOLT & Co. will publish at once "Clay and Fire," by Layton Crippen. Mr. Crippen's book has the interesting thesis that a Renaissance in things spiritual and artistic is about due. He looks for a re-birth of artistic and spiritual development with all the added power that the control of the material world gives and, curiously enough, perhaps, he expects it to come under the conditions of racial fusion and ideal climate of Southern California.

THE PLACARD, an English periodical devoted to the bill-posting trade, contains in its April issue an interesting article on "Can a Poster Sell a Book?" by Mr. Robb Lawson, who answers the question in the affirmative, but naturally with qualifications. He concludes that "provided the publisher is satisfied with the quality of his book, provided the author's name is a very popular one, and that the trade have already signified their faith in the book by ordering up large advance quantities, then the poster proposition will be a useful auxiliary." He also adds that there is "no reason why popular serials should not be sold by poster, and, in fact, they have been so sold. 'Railway Wonders of the World,' 'Wonders of Land and Sea,' and many others have been steered to success by this method," he says, referring to recent popular English publications of the Cassell house, and adds that "Within recent years Messrs. Cassell have advertised the Storyteller, the New Magazine, and the largest magazine in the world, Cassell's Magazine of Fiction, on the hoardings of the United Kingdom."

Adams, C: Fs. The Monroe Doctrine and Mommsen's law. Bost., Houghton Mifflin. c. 43 p. D. 50 c. n.

Monroe doctrine originated with John Quincy Adams, secretary of state in Monroe's cabinet, and was the result of conditions in the western world and European methods of acquiring territory at that time, 1823, all of which have changed completely. Mommsen's law is stated in his "History of Rome," and declares the right of the stronger and more civilized state to absorb weaker adjoining ones. The resemblance between the two is pointed out and the Monroe Doctrine's origin traced.

American Academy of Political and Social Science. State regulation of public utilities. Phil., [The author.] c. 7+357 p. O. (Annals) pap., $1.

Anecdotes of the hour, by famous men as told by Winston Churchill and other notable men. N. Y., Hearst's Internat. Lib. Co. c. 128 p. il. D. 50 c. n.

Austin, Mrs. Mary Hunter. Love and the soul maker. N. Y., Appleton. c. 287 p. D. $1.50 n. Deals with love not as a state or affection of the mind but as an energizing force which serves God in the same way that other great natural forces serve Him. Author shows how necessary a thorough understanding of the problems of love and marriage are to those who look forward to a future in which the home will become first in the interest of the individual and the nation.

Benson, Arth. Christopher. Where no fear was. N. Y., Putnam. c. 5+256 p. D. $1.50 n. Portrays and values those fears, some tonic and some bad in their effect, which in a variety of forms goad men from infancy to old age. Fear is traced as an influence, whether for good or for ill, in the lives of Dr. Johnson, Tennyson, Ruskin, Carlyle, John Sterling and Charlotte Brontë.

Bizzell, W: Bennett. Judicial interpretation of political theory; a study in the relation of the courts to the American party system. N. Y., Putnam. c. 5+273 p. O. $1.50 n.

By president of College of Industrial Arts, Dan-ton, Tex. Traces relationship of the courts to American party system. Gives survey of issues that have divided parties, of the shaping of theory into legislation, and of the judgments of the courts as to the constitutionality of the measures adopted. Bryant, Mrs. Lorinda Munson. What sculpture to see in Europe; with over 150 illustrations. N. Y., J: Lane. c. 215 p. D. $1.35 n.

Concise guide to best sculpture in Europe. Most representative pieces, both interior and exterior, have been chosen in the cities generally visited by travellers. Descriptions are frequently accompanied by a bit of legend or history.

Burr, Anna Robeson Brown, [Mrs. C: H. Burr, jr.] Religious confessions and confessants; with a chapter on the history of introspection. Bost., Houghton Mifflin. c. 9+562 p. (22 p. bibl.) O. $2.50 n.

Opening chapter traces history of confession-habit from rise of confessional and shows its development under the movement of the world in direction of introspective thought. Section on introspection treats of literary as well as of philosophical introspective types. Comparison of various groups of confessants, Quakers, Methodists, Mormons, and others, shows uniformity of their experiences. Heredity, health, childish piety, the depression preceding conversion, are studied in detail, followed by consideration of reaction and relapse. There are sections on the unpardonable sin, the tabu, witchcraft, etc. Index.

Clark, Allen Culling. Life and letters of Dolly Madison. Wash., D. C., W. F. Roberts Co. c. 517 p. 10. pors. facsms. O. $4; subs. de luxe ed., $10.

Key, Ellen Carolina Sofia. The renaissance of motherhood; tr. from the Swedish by Anna E. B. Fries. N. Y., Putnam. c. 7+171 p. D. $1.25 n.

Considers certain problems connected with woman's most important mission. Attention of an age that is the victim of divergent interests to the ancient claim of the child upon the mother, a claim that represents the most elemental of altruistic bonds. Emphasizes that motherhood and the care of children is woman's prerogative, and that the division of labor between the sexes, taking people in the aggregate, is a natural one. Suggestion toward the solution of certain social problems is made in the form of a proposed subsidizing of motherhood.

Mencken, H: L:, and others. Europe after 8.15; with decorations by T. H. Benton. N. Y., J. Lane. c. 222 p. D. $1.25 n.

Depicts special characteristics of night life in the five most prominent cities of Europe: Vienna, Munich, Berlin, London, and Paris.

Merchant (The) of Venice; told by a popular novelist; with 8 ills. in color by Averil Burleigh. Phil., Winston. c. 331 p. D. (Novels from Shakespeare ser.) $1.20 n.

Contains full, clear account of Montessori method, and includes description of the apparatus, with instructions for its use. Meant as a supplement to author's "The Montessori method," and is the only authorized manual.

Osborne, T: Mott, [T: Brown, Auburn No. 33,333X.] Within prison walls; being a narrative of personal experience during a week in the state prison at Auburn, New York. N. Y., Appleton. c. 7+328 p. D. $1.50 n.

Author is chairman of the New York State Prison Reform Committee, and in order to have real and definite information as to prison conditions he arranged to be committed to Auburn Prison. Last September, therefore, he spent one week as a convict, working in the basket shop, sleeping in a locked cell, doing just what other prisoners do, even to spending some hours in the unspeakable "jail" or punishment cells. He kept a detailed journal, which is here given, with comments by prisoners and discussions, carried on under great difficulty and against the rules, as to various means of reform. Some of these have gone into effect and have already achieved astounding results.

Rich, Grace Ellingwood. When mother lets us make paper box furniture; a book which shows children just how to make most attractive toy furniture out of materials which cost practically nothing—toys which give as much pleasure as those from expensive shops; il. by the author. N. Y., Moffat, Yard. c. 111 p. D. (When mother lets us ser.) 75 c. n.

Ridger, A. Loton. A wanderer's trail; being a faithful record of travel in many lands; il. with 60 reproductions from photographs. N. Y., Holt. 403 p. O. $3 n.

Russell, W. S. C. Iceland; horseback tours in Sagaland; il. from photographs by the author. Bost., Badger. c. 314 p. O. $2 n.

Embodyes results of four summers of labor and observation in Iceland, in 1909-1913. In 1911 the author was the geologist of the Matador party of scientists to Jan Mayen. In 1913 he led an expedition to the summit of Mt. Askja, the largest volcano in Iceland, then crossed north of Hoffs Jokull, where man had never been, and reached the south coast, going down between the glaciers. Author made study of the country and its people, their customs and traditions as well as their rich literature. Index.

Sanday, W.; D. D. Bishop Gore's challenge to criticism; a reply to the Bishop of Oxford's open letter on the basis of Anglican fellowship. N. Y., Longmans. 31 p. O. pap., 20 c.

Scott, Florence C., [Mrs. R. Hurst]. Here and there with Paul and Peggy; il. by Arth. O. Scott. N. Y., Hurst. c. 320 p. D. 60 c. Paul and Peggy Bennett are twins fifteen years old, who live with their widowed mother at Hilton, a New England town. They have the greatest desire to travel, and when both win prizes offered by their school magazine they use the money for a delightful trip to Washington with a party of friends. Their next opportunity comes when they, with their mother, are invited on a motor trip through the White Mountains. All the pleasures of the trip are described and more promised in a future volume.

Shaw, G. Bernard. Misalliance; The dark lady of the sonnets; and Fanny's first play; with A treatise on parents and children. N. Y., Brentano. c. 126+245 p. D. $1.50 n.

Stewart, Mrs. Elinor Pruitt. Letters of a woman homesteader; with ils. by N. C. Wyeth. Bost., Houghton Mifflin. c. '13, '14. 9+282 p. D. $1.25 n.

Parts of book appeared in Atlantic Monthly. Author some years ago was left a widow with a two-year-old daughter and no means of support. After a period of "going out by the day," she became housekeeper to a Wyoming homesteader. She wrote these delightful letters to a former employer in Denver. They tell a connected story of pioneer life, full of buoyancy and pluck and the spirit of adventure. The contrast they present between the freedom of glorious opportunity and days of sweated labor in Denver give the reader an exhilarated sense of holiday. Writer's world is full of attractive people—people of varied nationalities and of strong prejudices, who yet have learned long since that without good will a pioneer settlement cannot endure.

Stuttle, Mrs. L. D. Avery. Shiloh; the man of sorrows. Bost., Badger. c. 377 p. il. O. $1.50 n.

Story of the Christ, introducing the Bible characters, descriptions of places, customs, ceremonies, etc.

Swartout, Norman Lee. The arrival of Kitty; a farce in three acts. Bost., W. H. Baker & Co. c. 181 p. D. pap., 50 c.

Taft, W. Howard. The United States and peace. N. Y., Scribner. c. 10+182 p. D. $1 n.

Contents: Monroe Doctrine; its limitations and implications; Shall the federal government protect aliens in their treaty rights? Arbitration treaties that mean something; Experiments in federation for judicial settlement of international disputes.

Tchekhov, Anton Pavlovitch. Stories of Russian life; tr. from the Russian by Marian Fell. N. Y., Scribner. c. 6+314 p. D. $1.35 n.

Twenty-four stories by one of Russia's foremost writers, translated for the first time into English. Contents: Overseasoned; Night before Easter; At home; Champagne; The malefactor; Murder will out; The trousseau; The decoration; The man in the case; Little Jack; Dreams; Death of an official; Agatha; The beggar; Children; Lean and fat, etc.

Tressall, Rob. The ragged-trousered philanthropists. N. Y., Stokes. c. 7+385 p. D. $1.25 n.

Preface signed "Jessie Pope" states that manuscript of book was brought to her by a friend who said it was the work of a socialistic house-painter, who wrote his book and died. With great realism it reveals the lives and hearts of his mates, their opinions of their betters, their political views, their attitude toward Socialism. As they work they talk, while the foreman yells and the manager sneaks about trying to save commissions for himself by grinding them down. It is a tragic picture of life among English workingmen.

Van Dyke, J. C. Berlin, Dresden; critical notes on the Kaiser-Friedrich Museum, and the Royal Gallery, Dresden. N. Y., Scribner. c. 10+212 p. front. S. (New guides to old masters.) $1 n.

Munich, Frankfort, Cassel; critical notes on the Old Pinacothek, the Staedel Institute, the Cassel Royal Gallery. N. Y., Scribner. c. 10+170 p. front. S. (New guides to old masters) $1 n.

Weston, Bp. Fk., D. D. Proposals for a central missionary council of Episcopal and non-Episcopal churches in East Africa. N. Y., Longmans. 15 p. O. pap., 10 c. n.

Who's Who in America; a biographical dictionary of notable living men and women of the United States; ed. by Alb. Nelson Marquis. v. 8, 1914-1915. Chic., A. N. Marquis & Co. c. 21+2,760 p. D. $5 n.

Wickersham, G. Woodward. The changing order; essays on government, monopoly, and education, written during a period of readjustment. N. Y., Putnam. c. 5+289 p. D. $1.25 n.

Essays written during 1909-1913 while author was U. S. attorney-general when litigation was in progress between the government and the industrial combinations, laws regulating common carriers were amended, and the territories of New Mexico and Arizona were made states, causing modifications in constitutional government. Contents: Progress of law; State and the nation; College men and public questions; Palimpsests; Business and the law; Engineering and culture; Study of law and the work of lawyers; Recent interpretation of the Sherman Act; Further regulation of interstate commerce; New states and constitutions, etc.

Worcester, Alf., M. D. Nurses for our neighbors. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin. c. 3+267 p. D. $1.25 n.

Book gives history of nursing both here and abroad and makes a strong plea for the infusion of more personal human interest into the nurse's work. Author thinks the science of medicine has been developed at the expense of the art of caring for the sick, and that love and the desire to serve must enter into the attitude of both nurse and physician in order to enable them to do their full duty.

Quarter page.....	7 00
Eighth page.....	4 00
One-sixteenth page.....	2 00

The above rates are for unspecified positions. Special rates for preferred positions (full pages only).

Higher rates are charged for the Summer Reading, Educational Number and Christmas Bookshelf, and for the monthly Book Review supplement sections.

Advertising copy should reach us Tuesday noon—earlier if proof is desired out-of-town. Forms close Thursday night.

Under the heading "BOOKS WANTED" book-trade subscribers, under their own names, are given five nonpareil lines (exclusive of address) free advertisement for specific books out of print in any issue except special numbers, but not exceeding 100 lines a year. If over five lines are sent the excess is at 10 cents a line. Books not out of print, unspecified wants, repeated matter, and all advertisements from non-subscribers, cost 10 cents a line. Objectionable books are excluded so far as they are noted.

In answering, please state edition, condition and price, including postage or express charges. Houses that will deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis should put [Cash] after their firm name. The appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the WEEKLY, does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it endeavors to safeguard its columns by withholding the privileges of advertising should occasion arise, booksellers should take usual precautions in extending credit.

"Books Wanted" must be designated by actual title, not by "any."

Write your wants plainly, on one side of the sheet only. Illegible "wants" are ignored. The WEEKLY is not responsible for errors. Parties with whom there is no account must pay in advance.

Under "BOOKS FOR SALE" or for other small undisplayed advertisements, the charge is 10 cents a nonpareil line. No reduction for repeated matter. Count seven words to the line.

Reference List of New Publications

Recorded in MAY, 1914

This Reference List enters the books recorded during the month under (1) author, in Clarendon type, anonymous books having Clarendon type for the first word; (2) title in Roman; (3) subject-heading in SMALL CAPS; (4) name of series in Italics.

A colon after initial designates the most usual given name, as: A: Augustus; B: Benjamin; C: Charles; D: David; E: Edward; F: Frederick; G: George; H: Henry; I: Isaac; J: John; L: Louis; N: Nicholas; P: Peter; R: Richard; S: Samuel; T: Thomas; W: William.

For books received sizes are given in CAPS, Q, O, D, etc., books not received sizes are given in Roman numerals, 4°, 8°, 12°, etc. Prices are added except when not supplied by publisher or obtainable only on specific request. Where not specified the binding is cloth.

Those desiring to learn the entire publishing output of the month in any one field should look under one of the following MAIN HEADINGS:

PHILOSOPHY	MEDICINE	LITERATURE
RELIGION AND THEOLOGY	AGRICULTURE	POETRY
SOCIOLOGY	HOUSEHOLD ECONOMICS	DRAMA
LAW	BUSINESS	FICTION
EDUCATION	ENGINEERING, TECHNOLOGY	BIOGRAPHY
PHILOLOGY	FINE ARTS	GEOGRAPHY AND TRAVEL
SCIENCE	GAMES, SPORTS, AMUSEMENTS	HISTORY

Besides the titles listed under each of these headings cross reference is made from each to a limited number of cognate headings which collectively give all the new publications of the month in the given subject or group of subjects.

Inquirers looking for books on a specific topic should look under the general subject to which that topic belongs, i.e. GEOLOGY rather than SILURIAN PERIOD; MATHEMATICS rather than CALCULUS; ECONOMICS rather than WAGES. Books regarding specific Religious denominations, countries and persons, however, should still be sought for under their individual names.

The Novel for Summer Reading

WORLD'S END

By AMELIE RIVES

(Princess Troubetzkoy)

Best Seller

"WORLD'S END" has been on the best selling list in New York and Philadelphia ever since it was published, and its popularity has spread rapidly to other cities. The sale has not been forced by large quantities placed "on consignment" and other artificial methods. It is selling for the sole reason that people want to read it. That's the kind of book that dealers make the most money on, in the end. Recommending it is not wasted effort—it brings more sales.

THE RAGGED-TROUSERED PHILANTHROPISTS

By ROBERT TRESSALL

The remarkable socialistic novel by a house painter which is stirring up so much discussion. $1.25 Net
